

Community Development
& Health Network

Group Work Skills

Participants are enabled to identify and demonstrate the skills and knowledge necessary to plan and deliver group sessions using community development values to address health and wellbeing within communities. Group work skills emphasises the importance of groups as a tool in building the confidence and capacity of people within communities.

