

Community Development
& Health Network

Project Planning with impact practice

Participants learn the key elements of managing community based projects addressing health and well being issues. This includes best practice in community development, financial management, monitoring and evaluation, impact practice and publicity.